

[Written for the "Southerner."] Reveries of a Rebel.

BY SUSIE.

Who'd dream little Reb, from your Barcelona lay,
Of how few are the joys that light your lone way?
It's best, from your mem'ry and wrongs to escape;
For the grave in your heart, a smile on your face.

Sincope has marked all the joys I e'er knew;
Wealth, safety, old joys, I have bid you adieu!
My gold, my ebony, my hopes, my all Went with our country and the Southrons' downfall.

'Neath the Blue Ridge shadows, my Willie's slept;
Soft winds sigh "resurgam," while lonely I weep.
He clasps still his steel, of his hand 'twas a part;
I've buried his mem'ry and smile in my heart.

I ken of sweet tolls and hopes past recall; They're now promised hence where bright rainbows fall.
The toll was far sweeter than Wisdom's crown.
The gold would harvest wants the North-men have sown.

Prophetic winds flare the vail of my "To Come,"
I read "To Little Rebel" with anguish numb.
Though your thoughts are one grand "in memoriam,"
Fit your feet in "toll tracks," trust the "Great I Am."

Though unrelenting Fate claims, my best his own;
Sunshine and flowers grace not one land alone.
I'll gather up the crumbs that fall to my share;
Faintest toll and kindness shall drive away care.

A mockingbird trills in my lattice to-day; Come nearer little birdie and learn me your lay!
To a chant o'er broken alters, and buried brave;
In my "heart of hearts" low sleeping; there's their grave!

Fate, may yet mark my days with many a "white stone,"
Little Reb! new joys may for the old atone!
O'er my hushed happiness, "sweet Nephewren," Thy sacred waters shall heal my spirit's woe.

SPUNGIANA.
An exchange, speaking of the magic strains of a hand organ, says: A young ladies, speaking of mustach-es said she "always set her face against them."

An old bachelor, seeing the words, "Families supplied," over the door of a shop, stepped in, and said he would take a wife and two children.

A lady fixed the following letters in the bottom of a flour-barrel and asked her husband to read them if he could:
O I C U R M T.

"When he plays 'Old Dog Tray' we noticed eleven little pups sitting on their haunches in front of the machine, brushing the tears from their eyes with their fore paws."

The difference between a mule and a postage stamp is thus defined: One you lick with a stick. The other you stick with a lick.

Lucy Stone once said: "There is cotton in the ears of man, and hope in the bosom of woman." Lucy made a mistake, and got the cotton in the wrong place.

A lady says the first time she was kissed she felt like a tub of roses swimming in honey, cognac, nutmegs, and cranberries. She felt also as if something was running through her nerves on feet of diamonds, escorted by several little cupids in chariots drawn by angels shaded by honeysuckles and the whole spread with melted rainbows.

A moral and sensible philosopher has discovered that "subjecting all children to the same system of instruction is like boiling large and small potatoes in one pot and for a like number of minutes. Some of them get done and some don't."

A story is going round about Thad.
Stevens' grave tribulations. The remorseless old Jacobin, thinking the day was not far off when he would be happily relieved of the cares of State and gathered to his fathers; purchased a burial plot in a cemetery. On examining the deed he found there was a prohibition against the interment of negroes in the cemetery. Stevens, indignant at this disregard of the Civil Rights' bill, gave up his plot and bought in another cemetery; but soon afterwards discovered some interdict against the darkey. Hark was a precocious—Thad. wouldn't be buried in a cemetery where the dust of all races might mingle—that was fat The idea of buying a lot in a colored cemetery does not seem to have struck him, and his search for a cemetery, conducted on the miscegenation principle, was not at first attended with success. Here was a fearful prospect for the country—he could find no spot to rest his bones, and we might have to endure him, not like John Brown, whose soul is marching on, but whose body, we are logically assured, lies mouldering in his grave, but in the flesh, like a second Wandering Jew.
It is, therefore, with a feeling of relief that we learn that Thad. has at length found a cemetery where they bury anybody that comes along, they have no prejudices, and would just as soon fill up their ground with negroes as members of Congress. Thad's mind is now at ease. He has secured a burial spot to his taste. There will be no trouble in writing his epitaph.

in the market

Also, 5,000 yards of Spanish Liren, Linen Gaiting, Linen Drills and Canvas Ducks, at 25 to 50 cents per yard, worth 50 cts., to $1.

Also, 200 pieces Canton Matting, from 37 1-2 to 55 cents per yard. Among them is the XX Imperial, the best Matting made.

It is not necessary to add more, nor to say I am selling lower than any one else.
The public are the best judges of this, and I hope they will give their verdict substantially in my favor by their liberal patronage, and I will assure them I will leave no effort untried to please.

Medical.

PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSITY OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

THE PHILADELPHIA UNIVERSIty of Medicine and Surgery was organized in 1843. Chartered by the Legislature, February 26, 1853. Name changed by a legislative enactment to the Eclectic Medical College of Philadelphia in 1860.
In 1863 it purchased the Pennsylvania Medical College, established in 1842, and and the Philadelphia Medical College, which had previously been merged into the Pennsylvania Medical College. In 1864 it purchased the Penn Medical University. The Trustees of the separate schools united, petitioned, and obtained a special act of the Legislature, consolidating these institutions and changing their names to that of the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery, March 15, 1865. All these various acts are published in the statutes of Pennsylvania. The cost of the building and museum was over one hundred thousand dollars. It will be observed that the University, as now organized, is the legal representative of the four medical colleges that it has absorbed. It is a liberal school of medicine, confined to no dogma, nor attached to any medical clique; but embraces in its teachings everything of value to the profession.

Sessions.—It has two full sessions each year, commencing on the 1st of October, and continuing until the 1st of January, as its first session, and from the 1st of January to the 1st of April as its second; the two constituting one full course of lectures.
It has also a summer session, commencing on the 1st of April and continuing until August, for the preparatory branches, such as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Anatomy, Physiology, &c.

Tickets.—Tickets to the full course of lectures $120, or $60 for each session.— For the summer or preparatory course $25.
Graduating fee $20. To aid young men of moderate means, the University has issued five hundred scholarships, which are sold to first-course students, for $75, and to second-course students, for $50, each constituting the holder a life member, with the perpetual privileges of the lectures, and all the teachings of the school. The only additional fees are a yearly dissecting and matriculating ticket, each of which is $5.

The Advantages of Scholarship.—The student holding a scholarship can enter the College at any time during the year, attend as long as he chooses, and re-enter the institution as frequently as desired.
It requires no previous reading or study to enter the University on scholarships, hence, all private tuition fees are saved.
Students, by holding scholarships, can prosecute other business a part of the time.
The candidate for graduation can present himself at any time, and receive his degree as soon as qualified.

In case a student should hold a scholarship and not be able to attend lectures, it can be transferred to another, thus preventing any loss.

Parents, guardians, or friends of students wishing to purchase scholarships for them a year or more before their attendance at the University, can secure them by advancing one-half the price, and paying the balance when the student enters. Physicians and benevolent men can bestow great benefit upon poor young men, by presenting them a scholarship, and thus enabling them to obtain an honorable profession.

The Faculty embraces seventeen eminent physicians and surgeons. The University has associated with it a large hospital clinic, where every form of medical and surgical and surgical disease is operated on and treated in the presence of the class.

College Building.—The College building, located in Ninth Street, south of Walnut, is the finest in the city. Its front is collegiate gothic, and is adorned with em-bellishments and embasements, presenting a novel, bold, and beautiful appearance.
The facade is of brown stone, ornamented by two towers, rising to the elevation of eighty feet, and crowned with an embattled parapet. The building contains between fifty and sixty rooms, all supplied with water, gas, and every other convenience that modern improvement can contribute to facilitate medical instruction.
Only five hundred scholarships will be issued, and as two hundred and fifty are now sold, those who wish to secure one should do so at once. Money can be remitted by express, or a draft or check sent on any National bank in the United States, when the scholarship will be returned by mail, signed by the President of the Board of Trustees, Jos. S. Fisher, Esq., and the Dean of the Faculty, W. Paine, M. D. All orders for scholarships or other business of the University, should be addressed to Professor W. Paine, M. D., Philadelphia, Pa.
